In the hills of Pessac-Léognan, vines have grown since 1365, carried through centuries by merchants and mayors, until Daniel and Florence Cathiard arrived in 1990 to restore the estate to greatness, crafting red and white Grand Vins that carry the elegance of Bordeaux into every glass.

In the Vaio dei Masi valley, the Boscaini family has upheld a wine heritage since 1772, mastering the ancient appassimento technique to dry grapes and craft the rich, storied Amarone that gives Valpolicella its enduring reputation.
